Directions:

Read the following text and answer the questions by choosing the most suitable subheading from the list A-G for each numbered paragraphs (41-45). There are two extra subheadings which you do not need to use. Mark your answers on the ANSWER SHEET. (10 points)

1. “Universal history, the history //of what man has accomplished in this world, is at bottom the History of the Great Men who have worked here,” wrote the Victorian sage Thomas Carlyle 44-1. Well, not any more it is not.

2. Suddenly, Britain looks to have fallen out with its favorite historical form. This could be no more than a passing literary craze, but it also points to a broader truth about how we now approach the past: less concerned with learning from forefathers and more interested in feeling their pain. Today, we want empathy, not inspiration.

3. From the earliest days of the Renaissance, the writing of history meant recounting the exemplary lives of great men. In 1337, Petrarch 41-1 began work on his rambling writing De Viris Illustribus—On Famous Men, highlighting the virtues (or virtue) of classical heroes. 原词复现 秒杀 A Petrarch 41-2 celebrated their greatness in conquering fortune and rising to the top. This was the biographical tradition which Niccolò Machiavelli 42-1 turned on its head. In The Prince, he 42-2 championed cunning, ruthlessness, and boldness, rather than virtue, mercy and justice, as the skills of successful leaders. 原词+替换 秒杀 F dismiss A as B 认为是 B 这样的否定 A = rather than turned on one's head 彻底转变某事 (转折关系)

4. Over time, the attributes of greatness shifted. The Romantics commemorated the leading painters and authors of their day, stressing the uniqueness of the artist's personal experience rather than public glory. By contrast, the Victorian author Samuel Smiles 43-1 wrote Self-Help engineers, as a catalogue of the worthy lives of industrialists and explorers. 原词复现 秒杀 G “The valuable examples which they furnish of the power of self-help, of patient purpose, resolute working and steadfast integrity, issuing in the formation of truly noble and manly character, exhibit,” wrote Smiles,43-2 “what it is in the power of each to accomplish for himself.” His 43-3 biographies of James Watt, Richard Arkwright and Josian Wedgwood were held up as beacons to guide the working man through his difficult life.

5.This was all a bit bourgeois for Thomas Carlyle 44-2, who focused his biographies on the truly heroic lives of Martin Luther, Oliver Cromwell and Napoleon Bonaparte. These epochal figures represented lives hard to imitate, but to be acknowledged as possessing higher authority than mere mortals. 原词复现 秒杀 C

思考第 5 段第 2 句读不读？读

6.Not everyone was convinced by such bombast. “The history of all hitherto existing society is the history of class struggles,” wrote Marx and Engels 45-1 in The Communist Manifesto. For them 45-2, history did nothing, it possessed no immense wealth nor waged battles: “It is man, real, living man who does all that.” And history should be the story of the masses and their record of struggle 原词复现 秒杀 E

As such, it needed to appreciate the economic realities, the social contexts and power relations in which each epoch stood. For:“Men make their own history, but they do not make it just as they please; they do not make it under circumstances chosen by themselves, but under circumstances directly found, given and transmitted from the past.”

7. This was the tradition which revolutionised our appreciation of the past. In place of Thomas Carlyle44-3, Britain nurtured Christopher Hill, EP Thompson and Eric Hobsbawm. History from below stood alongside biographies of great men. Whole new realms of understanding—from gender to race to cultural studies—were opened up as scholars unpicked the multiplicity of lost societies. And it transformed public history too: downstairs became just as fascinating as upstairs.

	[A] emphasized the virtue of classical heroes.
41. Petrarch	[B] highlighted the public glory of the leading artists.

44. Thomas Carlyle TC	[E] held that history should be the story of the masses and their record of struggle.
45. Marx and Engels ME	[F] dismissed virtue as unnecessary for successful leaders.
	[G] depicted the worthy lives // of engineers, industrialists and explorers.

Directions:

Read the following text and answer the questions by choosing the most suitable subheading from the list A-G for each numbered paragraphs (41-45). There are two extra subheadings which you do not need to use. Mark your answers on the ANSWER SHEET. (10 points)

1. Emerging in the late Sixties and reaching a peak in the Seventies, Land Art was one of a range of new forms, including Body Art, Performance Art, Action Art and Installation Art, which pushed art beyond the traditional confines of the studio and gallery. Rather than portraying landscape, land artists used the physical substance of the land itself as their medium.

2. The message of this survey of British land art—the most comprehensive to date—is that the British variant, typified by Richard Long’s piece, was not only more domestically scaled, but a lot quirkier than its American counterpart. Indeed, while you might assume that an exhibition of Land Art would consist only of records of works rather than the works themselves, Long’s photograph of his work is the work. Since his “action” is in the past the photograph is its sole embodiment.

3. That might seem rather an obscure point, but it sets the tone for an exhibition that contains a lot of black-and-white photographs and relatively few natural objects.

4. Long is Britain’s best-known Land Artist and his Stone Circle 41, a perfect ring //of purplish rocks from Portishead beach laid out on the gallery floor, represents the elegant, rarefied side //of the form. 原词秒杀 D elegant=elegance

The Boyle Family, on the other hand, stands for its dirty, urban aspect. Comprising artists Mark Boyle and Joan Hills and their children, they recreated random sections of the British landscape on gallery walls. Their Olaf Street Study 42, a square //of brick-strewn waste ground, //is one of the few works here //to embrace the commonplaceness //that characterises most of our experience //of the landscape //most of the time. E commonplaceness(mundanity)=ordinary side

考场版思路: 42 不确定/选不出来怎么办? 先写下一个

5. Parks feature, particularly in the earlier works, such as John Hilliard’s very funny Across the Park 43, in which a long-haired stroller is variously smiled at by a pretty girl and unwittingly assaulted in a sequence of images //that turn out to be different parts //of the same photograph. 原词复现 秒杀 G

6. Generally, however, British land artists preferred to get away from towns, gravitating towards landscapes that are traditionally considered beautiful such as the Lake District or the Wiltshire Downs. While it probably wasn't apparent at the time, much of this work is permeated by a spirit of romantic escapism that the likes of Wordsworth would have readily understood. Derek Jarman's yellow-tinted film Towards Avebury 44, a collection //of long, mostly still shots of the Wiltshire landscape, evokes a tradition of English landscape painting //stretching from Samuel Palmer to Paul Nash. 原词复现秒杀 C

7. In the case of Hamish Fulton, you can't help feeling that the Scottish artist has simply found a way of making his love of walking pay. A typical work, such as Seven Days 45, consists of a single beautiful black-and-white photograph //taken on an epic walk, //with the mileage and number of days taken listed beneath.

an epic walk=a long walk 长途跋涉 选 A

45 题选 B 的同学 思考你为什么要定位? 问啥找啥

考场版思路: 41/43/44 都能写出来 都是原词 42/44 不确定 把 DGC 划掉

A a long walk

B light conceptual art

E ordinary

F Scottish

British Land Art as shown in this well selected, but relatively modestly scaled exhibition wasn't about imposing on the landscape, more a kind of landscape-orientated light conceptual art created passing through. It had its origins in the great outdoors, but the results were as gallery-bound as the paintings of Turner and Constable.

斜体: 书名/活动名/电影名---作品名字 “独一无二” 一定是原词

本篇简单之处: 非常好定位 难点之处: 读不懂 单词替换

主题: the British land art

思考 D 和 E 读什么? 找差异词 本质考什么? 单词的同义替换

	[A] originates from a long walk //that the artist took.
41. Stone Circle	[B] illustrates a kind of landscape -orientated light conceptual art.
42. Olaf Street Study	[C] reminds people of the English landscape painting tradition.
43. Across the Park	[D] represents the elegance //of the British land art. 优雅
44. Towards Avebury	[E] depicts the ordinary side //of the British land art. 普通

1.The decline in American manufacturing is a common refrain, particularly from Donald Trump. “We don’t make anything anymore,” he told Fox News, while defending his own made-in-Mexico clothing line.

2.Without question, manufacturing has taken a significant hit during recent decades, and further trade deals raise questions about whether new shocks could hit manufacturing.

3.But there is also a different way to look at the data.

4.Across the country, factory owners are now grappling with a new challenge: Instead of having too many workers, they may end up with too few. Despite trade competition and outsourcing, American manufacturing still needs to replace tens of thousands of retiring boomers every year. Millennials may not be that interested in taking their place. Other industries are recruiting them with similar or better pay.

5.For factory owners, it all adds up to stiff competition for workers – and upward pressure on wages. “They’re harder to find and they have job offers,” says Jay Dunwell,41-1 president of Wolverine Coil Spring, a family-owned firm, “They may be coming [into the workforce], but they’ve been plucked by other industries that are also doing as well as manufacturing.” Mr. Dunwell41-2 has begun bringing high school juniors to the factory so they can get exposed to its culture.

6.At RoMan Manufacturing, a maker of electrical transformers and welding equipment that his father cofounded in 1980, Robert Roth keeps a close eye on the age of his nearly 200 workers. Five are retiring this year. Mr. Roth has three community-college students enrolled in a work-placement program, with a starting wage of $13 an hour that rises to $17 after two years.

7.At a worktable inside the transformer plant, young Jason Stenquist42-1 looks flustered by the copper coils he’s trying to assemble and the arrival of two visitors. It’s his first week on the job. 原词+替换 秒杀 G father and mother=parents

sb. blame A on B =把 A 归咎于 B (因为 B 所以 A)

A is to blame for B=A 要为 B 负责 (因为 A 所以 B)

10. These concerns aren't misplaced: Employment in manufacturing has fallen from 17 million in 1970 to 12 million in 2015. When the recovery began, worker shortages first appeared in the high-skilled trades. Now shortages are appearing at the mid-skill levels.

11. “The gap is between the jobs //that take no skills and those that require a lot of skill,” says Rob Spohr⁴⁴⁻¹ a business professor at Montcalm Community College. “There're enough people to fill the jobs at McDonalds and other places where you don't need to have much skill. It's that gap in between, and that's where the problem is.” 原词秒杀 B

12. Julie Parks⁴⁵⁻¹ //of Grand Rapids Community College points to another key to luring Millennials into manufacturing: a work/life balance. While their parents were content to work long hours, young people value flexibility. “Overtime is not attractive to this generation. They really want to live their lives,” she says.⁴⁵⁻² 原词秒杀 F

1. In choosing a new home, Camille McClain's kids have single demand: a backyard.

2. McClain's little one aren't the only kids who have an opinion when it comes to housing, and in many cases youngsters' views weigh heavily on parents' real estate decisions, according to a 2018 Harris Poll survey of more than 2,000 U.S. adults.
